

ABSTRACT

In the case of a parking aid for a motor vehicle having a vehicle steering system with a manual steering wheel and a steering torque control module by means of which a steering torque can be applied to the steering wheel, the parking aid cooperates with the torque control module according to this invention and an additional steering torque is applied via the steering wheel by means of which the driver of the vehicle is assisted in a parking maneuver.